Lively Times.

Around the transfer grounds of the Union and Central Pacific roads everything is very lively. The platforms are full of freight and busy men are transferring goods of all kinds from one road to another, while many other men are unloading cars on one track to cars standing on another track so close that freight can be passed over with ease. Carpenters are busy in putting up platforms where the transfer sheds formerly stood. One platform, 600 feet long, will soon be finished and several others of smaller dimensions have already been completed. Men work in the open air without any shelter on these platforms, and it is not known if sheds are to be placed over them. The officials of the roads are in hopes that good offices and sheds will be provided before winter, but nothing can be learned as to what the companies will do in this respect.

The Central Pacific freight offices occupy a passenger coach, in which the clerical work is done, and a box car affords storage for bills and room for copying presses, etc., while still another box car is used for the storage of books and papers. When cold weather comes these will be found inadequate to the comfort and convenience of the clerks, and hence another office will have to be provided before that time. The Union Pacific clerks are better provided with room, but their office will be uncomfortable in winter. What will be done by the companies is a mystery to all connected with the roads at this place.—Ogden Pilot.

Frightful Accident.

A serious accident occurred on Friday afternoon to Mr. Harry Heywood, which, it is feared, will cost him dearly. He was experimenting in the northern limits of the city with some powder for which he is agent, when an explosion occurred. His face was fearfully injured, his eyes filled and swollen so badly that it is not known whether his eyesight is lost, his front teeth were blown out and his right arm broken. He was burned about the body and generally injured, the most serious features having been mentioned. Drs. Benedict and Richards were called in and attended the young gentleman, who is so seriously hurt that at present the full particulars cannot be learned of the manner in which the accident occurred.

THE FOURTH.

Preparations for the Celebration on the Natal Day.

At the appointed hour last evening a second meeting was held in the Federal Court Room to further deliberate on the matter of celebrating the Fourth of July in a becoming manner. The meeting was called to order by the temporary chairman, Mr. J. F. Allen, and Col. E. Sells elected permanent chairman and C. Diehl permanent secretary.

The finance committee reported the progress made in their labors, the amount subscribed being $1,000, and in view of the fact that the city had by no means been satisfactorily canvassed as yet, it was the opinion that the amount could be increased to $2,000, if not more. The report was accepted, and it was decided that the committee should still further prosecute the labor of securing subscriptions.

Mr. George Arbogast, secretary of the meetings held a year ago for the same purpose, handed in a record of the proceedings and suggested the propriety of continuing the record from year to year, so that the progress made at each succeeding celebration could be discerned. The following committees were then put in nomination and unanimously elected:

Executive Committee—W. F. James, Judge McBride, Henry Wagener, S. C. Ewing and J. F. Allen. Invitation—G. M. Scott, General Conner, Sol Siegel, S. P. Teasdel and E. H. Murphy.

Music—Jacob Moritz, A. Podlech, and Dr. Shock.

On Flags—Lieut. Patterson, Geo. Barton and Arthur Wild.

Stand and Decorations—Henry Wagener, E. Sells, Prof. Sheldon, L. Hobbs and D. R. Firman.

Transportation and Carriages—C. E. Wallin, Mat. Walker and Doc. Allen.

The names of E. H. Murphy, A. Podlech, Sam Levy, W. H. Fickard and Gen. Bane were placed in connection for the office of treasurer, but all declined in favor of Mr. Murphy, who made so efficient a treasurer last year.

Fireworks—Capt. J. M. Darling, J. T. Lynch and Rudolph Alf.

General Arrangements—Henry Lawrence, Fred. Auerbach, S. S. Walker, J. R. McBride, S. P. Teasdel, Geo. Barton, Chas. Auer, Samuel Paul, John Cunningham, W. S. McCormick, Louis Cohen, T. R. Jones, W. F. Fickard, Joab Lawrence, Dr. D. B. McKenzie and General M. M. Bane as chairman.

Printing—Ned Wallin and Geo. Arbogast.

The following secretaries were also elected besides Mr. Diehl: C. P. Huey, Fred. Reed, and A. S. Patterson.

There was considerable debate on the different matters presented to the meeting for consideration, the result being given briefly as follows: At the suggestion of Mr. Wallin, it was decided to invite all tradesmen, mechanics and others, and have a procession, and to make it as imposing as possible; to invite miners; to procure a good display of fireworks, the committee on this branch being given liberty to purchase to what extent they deemed advisable, providing they did not go beyond $350; to employ all the bands hereabouts—Mark Croxall's, the Fourteenth Infantry, the Tenth Ward and the Juvenile bands.

The meeting then adjourned, all future business to be disposed of by the various committees on particular subjects under the direction of the general committee.

All committees meet in the Federal Court Room, at 8 to-night, sharp, to arrive at a working plan.

The Purity of Irish Women.

"What is your opinion of the Irish as a component of American population?" asked a New York Herald interviewer recently of ex-Governor Horatio Seymour, a man as well qualified as any living American to answer such a question. "Are they not rapidly becoming farmers in New York as in New England?" His reply may be commended to the consideration of those who contend that the Irish agriculturists are as shiftless in the New World as in the Old: "I regard it as a very valuable component," he replied. "In the cities you doubtless have your severe troubles from the Irish element, which abound there with pretty politicians who seek a living from office holding. But diffused in the county the Irish make good farmers. They are very industrious, they keep at work all the time. There are a great many of them farming in this neighborhood, and they are thriving. But what I regard as the most admirable features of the Irish population of the United States, thus far in its development, is the purity of the Irish women, by whatever cause it is induced—attribute it to their religious system or to whatever cause you please, and the degree to which it has justified the trust which American families put in the integrity and fidelity of these women."

Excursion Cars.

The Utah and Nevada Railroad is making big preparations for this season's bathers and pleasure seekers to the lake over its line. It has ordered several new excursion cars, four of which arrived in this city on Friday evening, and will at once be put in readiness for use. The cars are peculiarly adapted for the purpose, and are so constructed that passengers can alight from almost any part. They were brought in on broadgauge trucks.

A Reporter's Work.

It is generally supposed by the world at large, says a sympathetic contemporary, that the lot of a reporter is happiness itself. He is envied by the rich and the poor, and especially by the boys during circus time, as he is supposed to "git in for nuthin'," which is a big thing in the eye of the gamins. There are those besides the gamins who think he wears a magic slipper that carries him safely past all doorkeepers and ticket sellers; that he sports a charm about his throat that brings forth free beer and bug juice ad libitum; that he has brass-plated cheeks, which are passports even into the skeleton closet of the household, and that his conscience is pliable and his disposition so mercenary that it is but necessary to cross his palm with a few paltry shakels to turn his calumny into praise and his facts into fancies.

But alas and alack! Truth stripped of the imagery with which it is frequently clothed, oftentimes would not be recognized by its own mother. Behold the naked truth.

In order to get the facts with which to construct his numerous articles, he must travel on an average five miles a day, or an aggregate of 1,500 miles a year. During these perambulations he asks several thousand civil questions and gets several thousand uncivil answers; has dozens of doors slammed in his face; is asked 10,000 questions and returns as many short but civil answers; gets in the circus once on a promise to give it a big send-off; is button-holed 1,300 times by parties who desire to impart a good item about themselves; is let into several political secrets by candidates, which are bare-faced boasts; is boosted by the same candidate because he didn't publish the secret; is welcomed wherever his pencil will put money into people's pockets or give them a little notoriety. However, he pays five cents a glass for beer, full rates for board, top prices for clothes, either walks or pays full fare on the street cars. While others are enjoying the opera, the social party, the circus, prayer-meetings, lectures, a game of poker, a turn on the roller skates or marching with a political club the reporter is wrestling with a mass of chaotic facts and endeavoring to get them into shape for you to read while you quietly dispatch your good, warm breakfast.

He goes to bed at 3 o'clock in the morning, and between the annoyance of flies, noisy chambermaids, and pencils of sunlight boring into his eyes, he does well to get seven hours' sleep by the time he is aroused at noon to get his breakfast. At 2 o'clock he reports at the office and begins the same old round of duties. But taking one consideration with another, the life of a reporter is not much worse than that of a street car driver after all.—Oil City Derrick.
